PREFACE

When it was suggested that an index to the Devon Historian might be compiled, Lorna Smith kindly offered to translate the proposal into reality. This she has now done, placing the Standing Conference for Devon History yet again in her debt. The draft was revised for the press and the index of reviewers was compiled by Celia King, to whom the Standing Conference would also like to express its thanks.

The index is divided into four sections: subject index, author index, book review index and index of reviewers. In each case the part number is given first, followed by the pages within the volume. To make the index easily usable, cross-references have been provided.

It is proposed to issue further indexes as the Devon Historian proceeds.

Walter Minchinton.
